Getting Started

You will need:

A Computer

A digital or tape recorder

Sound Editing software (I use Soundforge by Sony.)

A cord to plug the recorder into the computer to download the sound files

Earphones or headphones. (I prefer earphones. This is not essential, but you will hear a lot more than by just listening to speakers, which may distort subtle sounds.)

A lot of patience and the guts to jump into some unknown territory.

EVP and reverse speaking are two different modalities, but I found that they are an integral part of the whole. Unfortunately today, EVP is fraught with deception. There has always been deception, but it is now almost totally corrupted. So I would advise discernment when setting out to capture spirit voices. Always reverse any EVP. It may startle you, but at least you won't be conned into thinking you're speaking to Aunt Betty or some highly evolved being.

In the next chapters I will do my best to explain how I listen to both EVP and reverse speaking. I will outline both the how-to techniques and the more subjective side of these phenomena. It is a journey that with patience and persistence, will reward you with the absolute knowing that all lies will be revealed and all questions will be answered. We just have to learn to listen.

So let's start the journey. But first, you must decide on the red pill or the blue pill...

Chapter 1

EVP

Different recorders will perform differently when it comes to EVP. The famous Panasonic RRDR60 is reputed to be the EVP machine and it is true. It will pick up voices from the other side without any ambient noise. Just let it run and download and you will be rewarded with growly and often indistinct voices. Occasionally you may get a class A voice, but rarely.

That brings up EVP classifications. A Class C voice is growly and indistinct, and that is what you will mostly get with the DR60. On the other hand, it will be nonstop.

A Class B voice is clearer, but not necessarily easily understandable.

A Class A voice is very clear and easy to understand. These are rare, but do occasionally happen under the right circumstances.

The Panasonic DR60, which is no longer made, does come up occasionally on Ebay, but often with a hefty price tag. It certainly has it's uses, but you can get EVP with a less "precious" recorder. Here is a little blurb that I downloaded from the Internet about the DR60. This has nothing to do with capturing EVP, but is a little technical review:

Panasonic - RR-DR60 IC Memory Recorder review

www.itreviews.co.uk/hardware-reviews.htm

Panasonic RR-DR60 IC Memory Recorder

portable, digital dictaphone (19/03/1999)

The IC Memory Recorder is basically a small audio recorder for note-taking, but instead of using micro-cassette tapes it is entirely solid state with no moving parts. Speech and any other audio is encoded digitally and then stored in the device's memory. Not a great deal larger than a credit card, the IC Memory Recorder has a built-in speaker and a headphone socket, and is powered by two AAA batteries - enough for eight hours of playback or ten hours of recording.

A maximum of 60 minutes of audio can be stored in the 2MB of memory, with each individual memo file allocated a different number. Up to 99 memos can be stored, and each one is given a time and date stamp that is visible on the device's small LCD screen. Using the rotating 'jog' dial, it is possible to jump to a particular memo and play it back; there's also a feature to automatically play the first few seconds of each file, so that you can quickly track down the one you want. Memos can be deleted individually or all at once, there's an option to increase or decrease playback speed, and the device can be set to voice-activation mode if necessary.

Actually I find the sound quality of the DR60 pretty bad. But I have accumulated some truly unbelievable information by just letting the recorder run in a public area with ambient voices and sounds in the background. When I have downloaded and reversed the noisy recording, I often hear into the other dimension. This isn't necessarily spirit voices, it can be living people communicating from another reality. It is sort of like listening to the minds of people, living and in spirit, speaking to you about what they know, but have forgotten. It is a hard thing to describe and sometimes painful to hear. When I say, "speaking to you," I mean that literally. If you continue with this, you will find that those, whom you are recording, will occasionally use your name and make references to your listening.

I have done a lot of experimenting over the past five years with trying to get clearer voices. Some of my experiments included:

- Recording with white noise from a radio or TV

- Recording with the TV set playing softly in the other room

- Recording in Malls, restaurants, airports and stores.

- Letting a foreign language radio program play softly and see if there were English words in the EVP.

- Hitting the record button in the software program with no recorder attached and then boosting the sound.

- Recording with animal sounds, rain, wind, cars, applause, etc. in the background.

I can guarantee that even if you are not hearing it or understanding it, you will be recording EVP. I have never received any tape from anyone that didn't have EVP on it. I have never made a recording that does not have EVP on it. So now I will go onto Chapter 3 and explain who is doing all that talking.

Chapter 2

EVP Electronic Voice Phenomena (Capturing Spirit Voices)

Before I continue with information about how to record EVP, I will give you my take on who is now doing the talking. Five years ago, when I started trying to capture EVP and finally succeeded, I began to have conversations with spirit humans living in what we would call, the lower Astral world.

In the past five years, this has changed in my opinion. I personally do not think there are any humans in that place at this time and the voices that you will undoubtedly hear will be from reptilian aliens. They may say things to you that sound beautiful, enlightened and loving, or they may try to scare the pants off of you. Either way, you will get a bead on this right away if you reverse the EVP.

I'm telling you this because I listen to other people's EVP and cringe. They think it is some ghost, or some famous dead person or a loved one and it is not. It's obvious that they are not reversing the EVP.

Explaining all of this is what this website and blogsite is all about. This is the reality of what is happening here in this time and it is unlike any other time on planet Earth.

These reptilians are not nice, they are not your friends, they won't help you in any way. They will manipulate you and certainly mess with your head. They are truly a demonic race and have infiltrated this planet and so if you wish to continue trying to capture EVP, you can't say I didn't warn you.

Can they hurt you or your loved ones? They will certainly try. They can appear as demons, angels, people, and any form that they think will have impact upon you. They are the incubus and succubus that we have heard of. They can infiltrate your dreams, visions, and meditations. People are now channeling them in the New Age Community. I have been dealing with them for 5 years more or less, and I have no fear of them. But I feel it is only fair to warn you. Still any time you make any kind of recording, even your telephone answering machine, you will get their voices.

If you still wish to go on and try to communicate, or record these reptilian aliens, at least you will know who is speaking.

I will include in this booklet, how I use shielding. This form of protection is vital whether you are involved in this work or not.

Chapter 3

Making a Recording for Capturing EVP

I've outlined the different kinds of background sounds that will give the "spirits" a voice in which to communicate. A totally quiet room will make capturing EVP extremely difficult. The key here is to experiment with different sounds and their volume. If a place or the white noise that you have supplied is too loud, it will be a cacophony of noise. If things are too quiet, you probably won't hear much of anything.

I know that some ghost hunters insist on total quiet when investigating a haunting. They may still pick up EVP, but probably not much.

If you hold your recorder out on a windy day and then download, it may at first sound like the wind. But listen more closely. You will begin to hear words in that wind. Don't discard this just because it isn't a crystal clear voice. This is EVP. You will get voices constantly. The problem is getting a clear voice where everyone will hear it and you will be validated.

I've gotten some clear EVP while recording in a car with the windows down and other sounds from outside are heard. I've gotten very clear EVP in an old pub with just a few other people, but enough noise to make it work.

With the DR60, you won't need any other noise. You will hear voices by just hitting the record button. You may also hear levels of voices: big, growly, loud voices and mumbling voices. I didn't hear the mumbling voices when I first started. It was only after I ramped up my listening skills that I found there was conversation all the time.

You can speak on these recordings or just record. If you speak, you must leave some quiet spaces for responses. I have found that I always get EVP in the very beginning and ending of every recording and in any pauses in the middle. There will be EVP if breathing is recorded while holding the recorder near your mouth. The key is to get your ears tuned into this alternate way of listening.

Far and away, my best EVP has been captured in a public place with ambient voices in the background. If you speak into the recorder, the voices will most likely address you and comment on what you have said. This, as opposed to someone ordering a pizza in the next booth, will let you know that you have a spirit voice (or reptilian alien voice) and not the waitress at the bar.

One more thing...there are denoiser programs on the Internet and I have used these. They do get rid of some of the background noise, but can really mess up and distort the EVP. I found that in the end, they weren't really helpful.

There is also a program called EVPMaker. It mulches up lots of voices and while you can hear EVP in this program, there was just too much going on for me.

I haven't been on the AA EVP American Association of Electronic Voice Phenomena website for a long time. You may want to see what these good folks are doing. There may be technologies that I am unaware of and their chat group did have some very nice people.

Personally, I left because some of the people were sending out EVPs of voices they thought were loved ones. I could hear because of reversing, that these were not their loved ones. How do you tell someone who is grieving and finding upliftment in thinking that this is a beloved child, that it is not a beloved child. After a while, I just couldn't handle it any more.

I now believe the only other EVP that you will pick up besides reptilian aliens, will be from the minds of living human beings who are communicating without that person being aware of it. I know this sounds strange, but it is a fact and on this website, I will go into this in depth.

It is my belief that the Astral world, from which EVP emanates is now empty of humans. I will also go into why I say this on the website.

Chapter 4

The Software and Why it is Important

If you are trying to hear EVP or Reverse Speaking by listening to a tape or a reverse speech recorder you will probably get very little. A decent software program will give you what you need to hear both. (Some programs will be listed at the end of this booklet.)

The Software program will provide you with:

- Record
- Reverse
- Slowing down the speech
- Volume control

These are the bare minimum of what you will be using in the software.

Regarding Reverse Speaking, I will also be addressing:

- Cropping words
- Eliminating Words
- Words and/or phrases that are not a part of the English Language
- Metaphors
- Addressing an EVP voice, which is also on the recording.
- Not jumping to conclusions too fast.
- What Part of the Mind is this coming from?
- Reversals in a Foreign Language
- Reversals from Children and Mentally Handicapped People
- What are we really trying to tell ourselves?
- Why understanding the “other side” is critical (This is where EVP comes in).

Now on to listening to reverse speaking.

Reverse, slow down and volume control are the bare essentials. In my Soundforge program, there are all kinds of bells and whistles and I have tried them all. I usually go back to basics.

Download the recording. This is where you need a cable that plugs into the ear hole in the recorder to the microphone hole in the computer. (The DR60 has a tiny hole and so you'll have to take it with you to Radio Shack and get an adapter. Take it with you so you can be sure that they give you one that fits and is for mono, not stereo.)

(Insert recording window)

You will see the wave pattern on your monitor screen. This will look like many vertical lines running parallel. Being able to see the pattern will show you what sections to select.

(Show a wave pattern)

Give it a title and save the full audio recording into a file. I use “My Music” in “My Documents”.

You can then simply hit reverse and start listening to the whole recording starting from the end.

You may instead, want to start from the front and select a small section to reverse and listen to.

You will probably want to slow down the recording. On my software, slowing down is called time stretch.

I also use the loop button.

(Show loop button)

This means that once the selected area gets to the end, it will automatically start over. While listening to a small section, I will need to repeat it several times. Often, I will need to hear a few words or even syllables. By having the loop button active, I insert the cursor at the place where I want to start to listen and by hitting the play button, it will immediately start at the point of the cursor and I can listen again and again without having to start and stop and find the button and the beginning of that section.

(Insert image of screen)

Recheck to see just what the person was saying in forward at this point. RS will usually refer to that topic, but not always.

At this point, I will select that section by running the cursor over it and hit trim/crop in my software. This section will then fill the screen so you can have a better look at the wave pattern.

If you are just blasting through, you probably won't hear much in reverse at all. You might hear a recognizable word and my advice would be to go to that word and listen carefully to the words before and after.

If you are not getting a coherent phrase around that recognizable word, try nipping away at the word in front and/or back to see if you can pull out a word that will tie in with the recognizable word. Don't give up right away. Often the words that will make a phrase are buried in there and sound like gibberish because they are glommed together. Move the cursor a tiny bit at a time and listen. The loop button should be active now so that as you are adding or subtracting tiny bits of words to this phrase, you are hearing the phrase being played over and over. I often find that suddenly the right phrase can be heard that makes sense.

This is where patience and practice come in.

When you find a phrase that you want to keep, run the cursor over it to select, then hit save as, and save it with the reversal as the title so you know what you just heard. It is often helpful to also save the forward. Just hit reverse again so you can hear the forward. If the forward is too clipped to make any sense, go back to the original full recording, find that place and save enough of the forward to have it make a complete thought. I then save as and put the reversal in the title but add forward to the description. This way I always know what the reversal was in that clip.

(This is why it was important to save the entire audio right in the beginning. If you hadn't done that, you would have only saved that one reversal and would have to rerecord the whole audio again.)

If you want to make that reversal as clear and understandable as possible, mostly so others can hear it, you may have to work with it a little more. There may be a very quiet word and you can just select that word with your cursor and boost the volume. It may need to be slowed down more etc.

These are the basics. In the next chapter I will go more into cropping and eliminating words.

Chapter 5

Cropping and Eliminating Words

I often will crop a word to get a recognizable word in reverse. I may hear a word like slerth. I would try to cut off the sl and see if the word Earth would work in that phrase. The same applies to syllables at the end of a word.

Don't forget, the RS part of the mind is really trying to communicate. It is handicapped though, by lots of forward speech sounds. This part of the mind is sometimes stuck with extra syllables that don't fit, but with a little cropping, you may find a very intelligible reversal.

Then comes the elimination of words or odd sounds in a phrase. This is an individual call in my opinion. In all of the thousands of reversals that I have captured, I have only eliminated a sound within a phrase about 5 times. In these cases it was such an intelligent and clear reversal except for that one sound in the middle that I made the decision to cut out that sound.

I think the danger would be if one were to chop away so much to try to "get" a reversal and then completely change the meaning. RS is often ambiguous enough, and I would rather just pass it by then over manage. There are thousands of reversals to hear, so my suggestion is to just keep going and the mind will try to communicate that thought again.

We are dealing here with a part of the mind that has much greater awareness than the conscious mind and will try to work with you even if the speaker is someone who consciously doesn't know that you exist. This is a function of the universal mind and I will explain why I believe this later in this booklet.

Words and Phrases that are not part of the English Language.

There are many metaphors in reverse speaking. I would rather err on the side of caution though when it comes to giving a meaning to a word that is not part of the English language.

I do not have a scientific or medical background and I know I miss reversals that would have meaning to people in those fields. But if I don't recognize the word, then I pass it by.

Chapter 6

Metaphors

I would like to give credit to David Oates, who is the acknowledged founder of Reverse Speech. I became interested in this field because of David's work. I also learned much from his material.

That being said, my listening to EVP put a whole different emphasis on what Reverse Speaking is trying to communicate. David has a fairly extensive book on reverse speech metaphors. These seem to indicate that RS is coming from the unconscious part of the mind and it referring to different aspects of the psyche. So the owl may be thought of as wisdom according to his theories. He also ascribes different meanings to snake and serpent, meaning either deception or wisdom.

I disagree with these findings. It is my firm belief that these metaphors are much more literal and are trying to communicate what is going on in a reality that is virtually closed to us.

After I began to reverse the EVP that I was hearing from the spirit people, resulting in no more lies, I was able to find out much about life on the other side, which is unknown to us. I heard things that I had never heard about or read about in any religion, or spiritual teaching and I had investigated many. What the people told me was so contradictory to our basic beliefs that I was in shock for quite a while.

Reverse speaking is desperately trying to tell us that we are living in a matrix, not unlike the movie of the same name. This is a bad Disneyland and the perpetrators of this deception are almost completely unknown to the average person. We are collectively asleep. We may think we know a lot, but I found out by listening to RS that nearly all of my theories, beliefs, intuitions, and concepts were off.

So without going into the whole history of the deception, a bit of background is important to understand that the owl in reverse does not mean wisdom. The serpent in reverse is very literal and many of the metaphors refer to this group of reptilian aliens originally from the constellation of Orion, who has been holding us in a prison world for thousands of years for their own agendas.

All of the following metaphors refer to the reptilian extraterrestrials:

- Owl
- Wolf
- Ets (it sounds like ets and refers to ET's)
- Satyr
- Demon
- Devil
- Terrorists
- Earl (these reptilians are the instigators of all of our monarchies)
- Serpent
- Snake
- Hell (as in "hell has attacked Earth")
- Alien (On the other side, reptilians are referred to generically as aliens)
- Elves (the minions, lower level reptilians)
- Beast

The Net is probably the most common metaphor. The reptilians strung an electro-magnetic net around the Earth which captures astral bodies and keeps us shut down to the higher frequencies. It blocks our view of anything but the 5 senses. It cuts us off from the people on the other side in spite of what mediums claim.

Some people refer to the net as an energy grid. This is a very big mistake. There is nothing positive about the net. It is our prison, plain and simple.

There are other kinds of nets that are referenced in RS. Net can refer to any kind of deception, or entrapment.

Pretty net (nice words, but mistaken)

Golden net or money net (trapped by money or the lack of it)

This is a net. (This will be said if someone is trying to deceive, whether intentional or not)

Lying net. (Any kind of deception)

God is a fact. Everyone knows about the Creator in reverse. There is no ambiguity about this. The Creator exists absolutely. He has a number of metaphors. He is also referred to in the masculine. These are some of the metaphors and/or names for God. If you listen to yourself and even pray and reverse, you will begin to learn about the One directly from yourself.

God

One

Divine

Highest

Planet X is incoming. It is being sent by the One to rip the net to shreds. Planet X is what will finally get us out of the mess we are in. There is so much disinformation now about PX, but it is not here to hurt, but to help us.

X

Planet

Orb

Marduke

Nibiru

Ball

You may hear the name Orion. It is the original home of the reptilians.

Mars has been a huge reptilian base and is where many humans are taken after they leave the physical world. It is where human meat has been stored in huge vaults.

Mars (reptilian base)

Vault (where human meat is stored)

Locker (also where human meat is stored)

References to meat, beef, fish, refer to human meat. This is why the reptilians are here. They eat us, both physically and in the astral. They also consume our energy, while sleeping or meditating. Shielding is very important.

Cloning is a very big production with the reptilians. Some of the metaphors for clones are:

Mirrors

Doubles

Dad (clone referring to the original) (If the person is saying that something bad happened to Dad, he is not referring to his father. I'm sure Mom would come up with a female, but I just haven't heard that.)

Chapter 7

EVP on the Recordings

There is EVP on virtually every recording that I have ever heard. If you are not attuned to it, you probably won't hear it. I listened to thousands of hours of EVP before reverse speaking, so my ears are attuned.

Usually EVP will occur in the very beginning and the ending of a recording. If there are pauses, it will be there in any noise like breathing or background sounds. This is not necessarily going to be a spirit person, but more likely a reptilian.

When I record, I will often refer in reverse to the reptilian's comments on the recording. I may say, "don't believe this" or "that's a lie" and if I didn't hear the EVP, I would wonder if what the reversals are saying is a lie. This could be very confusing since we are trying to hear the truth.

A friend left a message on my answering machine a few years ago. He wanted me to reverse the message that he left. In reverse he, and the resident reptilian who was also speaking in the EVP were having a battle of words. If I hadn't heard the EVP, I would have thought my friend was seriously disturbed. But by listening to the whole recording, including all of the EVP, the reversals made perfect sense.

EVP is not always from a reptilian or a spirit person. EVP will come from the collective minds of the people in the area of the recording. If you listen carefully, you will hear EVP from the collective minds in applause or cheering. In a crowd, the voices will sometimes come together and in unison, make a statement. You have to listen carefully to understand who is saying what as applause may also be a message from a reptilian. Reverse everything.

I have heard the people at a political gathering saying in unison during the applause, that they are asleep. They may also say in unison, that this person is lying. They may make references to the Owl leaving or getting kicked off.

We all know all of these things from the shut down part of the mind where reverse speaking is coming from. Listen carefully to any other noise on a recording. If you are persistent with this, you will begin to hear words in the noise.

Note:

The reptilians know our minds much better than we do. They have been infiltrating our mental processes for thousands of years. They can give us all kinds of messages, visions, dreams, channeling, and can give information directly to mediums. This is old stuff for them.

Reverse Speaking is new. It came out of left field. I don't think the reps saw this snag in their little game. You cannot influence your own reverse speaking. You will hear the truth. It will not be based on your religion or belief system. It will correct you if you are trying to convince yourself of something that is wrong. It is the ultimate truth serum.

There are limitations though, with people's hearing abilities and also the subjective nature of RS and how interpretations can be wrong. This is why now, I always, always, always ask myself if what I am hearing or interpreting is correct and reverse to see if I am getting the right information. I have not always done this in the past and did make mistakes. Live and learn.

Your own reversals can be your greatest teacher. Do not hesitate to speak and listen. Ask questions but give yourself about three sentences. You have to give yourself enough words to communicate back to yourself in reverse. It is a different language. But I believe it is the most important tool we have right now as we seek the truth.

Don't Jump to Conclusions Too Fast

When listening to someone speaking in reverse, we may hear the word lie or deceive. We may hear references to “the Owl”. But don't be too quick to judge. I've found that even when listening to myself, I've heard things that seemed to be indicating a lie or something duplicitous. I knew I was being sincere. I had no doubts that what I was saying was not a lie. This is where it is important to give the speaker the benefit of the doubt and keep checking the forward speech to make sure that what you are hearing is correct and not a false judgment.

When I went back to check my own reversals, I would find the confusion in the “lie” and it would be straightened out. But we have to realize that sometimes a forward speech sound will be there and could taint the reversal. While it is the most fantastic tool, RS isn't perfect.

I just think it is important to be careful before rushing to judge someone, or coming to a conclusion too quickly. I will listen and listen again before deciding the character of the person or the information that is coming through.

Chapter 9

What Part of the Mind is Reverse Speaking Coming From?

This is simply my opinion, but I am convinced that RS is coming from a Universal Mind and not the subconscious mind.

I have many reversals where people who wouldn't know I was alive, making references to my listening. I know others have said they've had the same experience. When George Bush will comment about "The bitch that asks in reverse" or "Peggy is listening" it can really be startling. But I've heard this so much from so many people; it doesn't surprise me at all any more. This is the Universal mind and we truly are all connected. We know so much more than you can ever imagine. So be prepared to hear your name mentioned!

I can ask virtually any question and by listening carefully, get the answer. There is nothing rote about this. Our reversals will tell us what we need to know, but if we aren't meant to hear something, we won't hear it.

There have been times when I have heard something and then told myself to be quiet about it.

I have heard in reverse, that those who have died will stand up and be alive. We never cease to live.

I've heard about the nature of life, the false nature of death, and the great soul. But mostly, we are adamant about communicating the machinations of the very demonic reptilian race who captured this planet eons ago. They strung a net, and have been consuming bodies and manipulating our minds ever since. They are however, getting kicked off and into hell as I write this.

The reversals that are about the Creator, the One, are among my favorite. We all know the One. He is our loving Father, and yet we are all a part of this great being. I've told myself "Father, there is only your love," "trust, and there you'll learn it." I've heard others say "Serve the One, just be the light." "He is love, always" and, "all, yet the One" just to mention a few.

My very favorite of all times though was to listen to my three year old grandson say in reverse "He is tickling me, the One." That phrase was followed by me saying "He does this, with love."

How can you not fall in love with the greatest source of power in the Universe, who will stop and give your grandchild a little tickle?

In Chapter 6 on metaphors, I will write more about the important words that will help one to understand the subjective nature of what the mind is trying to tell us.

Chapter 10

Reversals in a Foreign Language

I haven't been able to prove this completely, but I believe that whatever language you speak and if you are listening to RS, the reversals will be in your language.

I have many reversals from people who do not speak a word of English, and their reversals are in clear English. This again, is the part of the mind that is brilliant, beyond anything that we experience in our conscious minds. I have reversed political leaders, spiritual leaders, and all manner of people who are speaking in their native tongue and they speak in reverse, in English, again communicating the truth.

Children also reverse in clear English even if their speech is immature. Their reversals will be in clear and sometimes, In very adult language.

Mentally handicapped people also speak with normal mental abilities in reverse.

This is about communication. This part of the mind is not handicapped by age, mental abilities, nor any language barrier.

Note: This part of the mind is using the available forward speech sounds and constructing phrases in reverse in real time to tell the truth. Think about how incredible this is. There is not a computer on this planet capable of doing this.

Chapter 11

What Are We Really Trying To Tell Ourselves?

If your primary concern is more money, a better job, finding a mate, a new car, where to move, how to get a promotion or any number of quests that can consume our lives, reverse speaking is really not for you.

I have found in my years of listening, that this part of the Universal mind is not interested in our day-to-day wants and needs unless they are concerned with our spiritual growth. This is the main thrust of reverse speaking.

If you are reversing yourself, you can expect to hear some of the following:

If you want a pat on the back and to be told that you are just doing fine, well, that may happen, but you will get total honesty, no holding back. You're feet will be held to the fire.

If you are lying even unbeknownst to yourself, you will be sure to tell yourself. If you hold attitudes that your spirit doesn't like, you will certainly tell yourself. If you are willing to really hear the truth, no matter where it takes you, no matter how much you love your beliefs and would like to hear verification of them, no matter how hard it is to hear that those beliefs are wrong, you are now ready to listen to the Universal mind communicating through reverse speaking.

You will hear the true agendas of any person in a position of influence and power. You will hear what is really happening with great spiritual personages, people who are researchers, scientists, UFO investigators, abductees, and near death experiencers, virtually everyone. You will never have to wonder again. You will know.

You will hear the truth of this reality. It doesn't matter whether it is President George W. Bush or Joe Sixpack. Everyone will tell essentially the same story. I have found the story builds, but there are no real contradictions in reverse. It is the Universal mind telling us the truth about our Universe.

It will take patience, persistence, time, and dedication. It is a skill enhanced by practice.

How much do you want to hear the truth? How much do you want to be of service to the Earth and to the Creator?

Listening to reverse speaking is as close as we can come right now to having the direct line to the ultimate reality.

Chapter 12.

Why Understanding The Other Side Is Critical

Reverse speaking is not about parts of the psyche. It is about transcending the boundaries of time and space. It goes beyond linear time.

This is about the true past and the probable future. There are parts of the future that are fixed and parts that are changeable. I know this because I have heard of future events in reverse that then changed. Although it is hard to grasp, time is not truly linear, but simultaneous. That is why President George Bush, while giving a speech on one day, will say in reverse, “Peggy is listening” when I won’t be listening until a few days later.

We are existing in a prison world even if we don’t realize it. We truly are in a matrix. Again, this is a false time construct. It is a lock-down situation right now. The reptilians, who easily operate in the physical world cloaked inside of human beings, and the astral world openly, move between dimensions. They move about unseen and so have access to our lives to create illness, stress, damaged relationships, and all manner of pain and suffering. This is a food source to them energetically.

They also know our minds better than we do. This is why we are only using a small percentage of our brains. The rest is inaccessible to the conscious mind except through reverse speaking.

They scan our minds to see what we love, and hate. They know what we believe, and what we fear, and use this information to manipulate our minds and our lives. They whisper loving words; they can appear as angels, or deceased family members to lull us into a false sense of security. “Everything is in perfect order” is one of their favorite lies. “It is all a great learning experience”, or, “I will become aware and get out of this mess.” Ah, sorry, no dice. They want passivity, and detachment. It works perfectly for their agendas. That way, you aren’t much of a problem for them.

One of my favorite quotes, which I will paraphrase here, is from Emiliano Zapata who said, “I’d rather die on my feet, than live forever on my knees.”

They can appear as demons, shadow people, or strange and fierce animals to scare the hell out of us. In doing so, we live in fear and terror.

They have used religions, politics, race, sex, and all manner of divisive tactics to keep us constantly fighting. War is their banquet of energy and bodies. They set up a nation with an attack, and then whip us into a state of fear. We give up basic freedoms, which mean we are more easily controlled. We are told to be patriotic and to fight the attacker, who is demonized. We go to war and they laugh and feed. It is one great manipulation that has worked over and over for as long as we can possibly know.

But things are changing and help is on the way. On May 29, 2007, a great battle began. The reptilians had made plans to get away and leave our planet scorched and bloody. I had heard this over and over and reported my findings. On May 29, it appeared that nothing happened. It was important that my mind not communicate the set up by the Allies, the good ETs. The Allies did manage to convey to me their excitement that there had been a rout and the damage had been stopped. But it is not over at this writing. There is a great battle going on right now outside of the net, and perhaps within. People have reported seeing what looks like battling UFOs in the skies as I write this. They’ve heard explosions and what looks like something burning up in the air. It is only a matter of time now. Planet X is incoming and this will be the ultimate demise of the net. That will be the beginning of a new Earth and the ascension that so many speak of. At that point, it won’t be necessary to listen to people speaking in reverse any more.

Sony SoundForge Stereo Editing Software

(this is the software that I use, but I got it when it was a lot cheaper)

www.zzounds.com/item--SNYSFORGE

Try eBay and continue to do a Google search until you find the software that best suits. You do not need a lot of options, but the few that I mentioned earlier are very crucial.
