The Two Sides of the Coin of Unique Individuality

The solution

And herein we found the answer to the question we asked earlier, "How is it that the same Unique Individuality, which springs forth and reaches us from the Individual of the world, who is the source of all construction, serve in us as the source of all destruction?"

All that happened to us because we are using this precious in an opposite direction, as we have explained.

I am not claiming, that the Unique Individuality within us absolutely never acts in the form of "sharing with others," reflecting side A which we discussed earlier.

We cannot deny that there are people among us in whom Unique Individuality operates also in order to share with others, such as those who spend lavishly of their own wealth for the benefit of the society with noticeable distinction, surpassing anyone else in the world; and also those who spend all their energy for the sake of society, etc.

But those two aspects of the coin, which I have described, speak only about the two points in the evolution of Creation, which brings everything to its perfection.

It starts from absence, and slowly and gradually climbs up the ladder of evolution, from a lower level to a higher one, and from there to a yet higher one, until it reaches the goal at the height of its climb, which is its predetermined degree of perfection, where it rests and where it remains in that state for eternity.

In this order of development there are two points: the initial point, which is the lowest stage and is very near complete lack, which is the point described as the second side of the coin. And the summit point of evolution, where it will rest and remain for eternity, is what was earlier described as the first side of the coin.

Surely, this period that we find ourselves in is already quite developed, having passed through many levels.

It has ascended from the lower stage, which is the above mentioned side b, and has considerably approached side a.

This is why there are those among us who use the Unique Individuality within them in the "sharing with others" mode. But because we are still halfway through the process of evolution, these people are still rare because we are still in a process evolution.

And when we finally reach the zenith, the topmost final level, then we will all use our Unique Individuality only in the "sharing with others" mode.

It will not occur to anyone that he could use it in the "receiving for oneself" mode, which means like side A of the coin.

The Life Conditions of the Last Generation

And based on these thoughts we now have the possibility to look at the life conditions of the last generation, which is the time when world peace prevails.

In other words, this is the time when humanity as a whole reaches the summit of evolution, or side A of the coin.

That will be the time when Unique Individuality would only be used in the "sharing with others" mode, and not at all in the "receiving for oneself" mode.

And it would be worth our while to copy their way of life, both the life of the individual and the life of society, in a way that would teach us valuable lessons, and in order for it to be incorporated even in the flooding torrents of our lives.

Maybe it would be possible and worthwhile to make an experiment and adopt those modes of life even in our present generation.
