Were All Religions Started by Aliens?

QUESTION:

A questions from Judy V., Hemet, California. I'll read her letter. It's rather interesting and I think it leads into the question. She writes: " I am very much looking forward to your information on religion since I had a run-in with a church when I was 20. I was staying at a home providing room and board to seven young women, too many for the small house. It was owned by a church member, Church of God, like Pentecostal, in Del Rio, California.

"It was like a cult. The landlady felt obligated to take in too many renters, members of church, but disliked it so much that each new renter got stomach pains from fear by the second week. By three weeks she told me to go back home to L.A., "because I wasn't spiritually advanced enough for the church."

"I wouldn't drop out of junior college, which many churches dislike their members to get higher education. Also, I have a British personality, and screaming and yelling in a Holy Roller Church is not my style. My feelings were very hurt. I quit the church and got through the LVN nurse course at the college.

"Astounding things did happen to me during childhood in churches, especially Four Square. I don't know how much of it was mind power or faith, altered consciousness or spirits, but the church usually takes the credit. The good experiences were attended by unassuming quiet ministers. The bellicose wind-bags just make a lot of noise and take credit for what does and doesn't happen.

"At age 7, I became "saved" and "saw" a three-foot flame envelop me. Probably no one else saw it, and I had an altered consciousness into quite a bit higher state for a few weeks, close to the superconscious state. I achieved that state two more times before age 19; once with the help of excess deep breathing too much oxygen.

"At age 9, I had tonsillitis, and woke up one Sunday morning with a swollen lymph gland on my right front neck, an inch and a half in diameter, sticking out an inch. I could hardly turn my head. The minister at church, a small group, asked persons with problems to come forward and pray. My dad brought me up and he and I put a hand on my neck and closed our eyes.

"Almost immediately I had an out-of-body experience and was at the ceiling looking down at everybody. I felt regal like I was a God, I could do anything. Maybe I was in the superconscious state. I felt the neck bump shrinking under me and my dad's hand and I was not at all surprised because I felt so powerful and omnipotent. I saw my dad's eyes get big with surprise as he felt the lump recede also, and that angered me.

"I felt he should not have been surprised, and I lost the superconscious state and joined my body again, and the lump stopped going down, three quarters of the way. I couldn't maintain the altered consciousness with negative emotions at the same time. It was at least as good as sex, but pure and holy.

"I've had good luck also with ESP, prayer request for desires or guidance, serendipity, all the things you give instructions on for constructive visualization and I'm happy that we can all do these things without some autocratic church taking credit for it.

"Brainwashed church members certainly will get mad if you knock their church. Your newsletter, as it is now, probably repels brainwashed church people, partly because they'll feel you are replacing "God" with "Awareness," but the few there will be very vocal. Question: After reading The Mothmen Prophesies and Talmud Jmmanul, I wonder if these "angel" persons who were the messengers starting religions like the Mormon's, Moroni, 7th Day Adventists and Jehovah's Witnesses...were they all Pleiadian? or other groups too?

"What other religions were started by such beings? or mostly? The Mormon temples today have admittance to only 10 percent of their members. The rest go to Mormon church. Do angelic Pleiadians ever visit these temples? I suppose they could be persuaded to if the members raised their consciousness and implored in a concerted effort, but as stated in The Mothmen Prophecies, why should Pleiadians or others go to the trouble, if humans here don't follow their instructions?

"Other problems have to get bad enough so that we are ready to take action on what becomes more and more obvious."

There's a lot of questions in there. The first one, in regard to The Mothmen Prophecies and the Talmud, she's asking about the angels who were messengers. Could Awareness elaborate on that and whether these were aliens?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that there are certain guiding forces from what may be termed an invisible dimension that attempt to steer any religion, particularly new religions, because they are easily moved in a direction; these spiritual beings try to steer the religions in the proper directions.

They are not necessarily the founders of the religion. They will take whatever group energy or religious organization is available and attempt to guide it, just as they attempt to guide individual souls in the right direction, for their own soul growth.

This Awareness indicates that it is the same with these various religious groups which were mentioned, however, there is also the influence of the human hand in these churches that can sometimes supersede the spiritual guiding forces, so that the human needs are more served than the spiritual needs of an organization.

This Awareness indicates when human needs become stronger, generally the church begins to work toward activities that enhance the revenue and the spiritual aspects of the church suffer during such times. This Awareness indicates of course all churches must have some monetary sustenance in order to continue functioning. It is a matter of degree, how much of the church effort is put toward raising money and how much is put toward promoting the spiritual life that the church represents.

This Awareness indicates that as entities promote the spiritual aspects of a church, the spiritual influences on the church increase their efforts. This Awareness suggests that it still, of course, will require some monetary assistance so long as these churches operate on the earth plane in a manner that needs monetary base of support.

This Awareness indicates, of course, if a church operated on earth with no central headquarters, and had to put forth no information, if it was simply a gathering of people who met under a tree, the church's expenses would be extremely limited, if there was an expense at all. This Awareness indicates, but if the church operates within the bounds of legality, having to file reports with the state, having to keep any kind of books or records, having to have a roof overhead, or a telephone, or keep a mailbox, or put forth printed matter, or messages in some other media; then of course the church is going to need some kind of support from the membership, or some other form of raising money to keep these things paid.

This Awareness indicates that this means that a certain amount of time must be devoted to the materialistic aspects of a business or organization and that this attention to the materialistic needs of the church may diminish the amount of attention that goes into the spiritual purposes and efforts of the church.

This Awareness indicates that the angelic assistance from higher frequencies generally concerns itself little with the materialistic needs of the church and focuses almost exclusively on spiritual energies and expressions of the church.

Again: Who Started These Religions?

QUESTION:

The basic question concerned these so-called angels and these messengers who started these religions like Mormonism...

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that the basic question or premise is in error in most cases. Most of these churches were started by the influence of a belief on an entity, and the entity is usually a human, and the human usually starts a church in response to the needs of others or in response to his or her own belief and a need to promote that belief to others.

This Awareness indicates that there are, of course, some entities who claim the church is started by an angel, or by God, but these are more like metaphorical explanations than real and true descriptions. This Awareness suggests the question continue.

QUESTION:

So there were no Pleiadian aliens involved in setting up any of the religions on the planet earth. Is that correct?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this is in reference to the Mormon and various churches the entity mentioned. This Awareness indicates that in regard to Pleiadian efforts to set up any of the churches, this Awareness does not see any churches in a mainstream fashion that have been created by Pleiadians on the earth plane.

This Awareness indicates that the presence of certain extraterrestrials in early history may account for some of the early secret schools and priesthood, which may have led, further down the line, to certain religious organizations. This has been described in part, or into that in part from the Zechariah Sitchin books and also from the Gods Of Eden by Bramley.

This Awareness indicates that Pleiadian influence in earlier history may have accounted for certain influences in spiritual teachings on earth which in turn may have led some human to create a church to promote such teachings, but this Awareness does not see any instance where Pleiadians have directly worked to create a religious order or religious church or body on earth.

MIND CONTROL AND RELIGION: HOW TO RECONCILE BOTH?

QUESTION:

A question from Jon S. He writes: "Religion and mind control. It is an inherent human trait to seek to pacify one's fear of the unknown by joining a religion that attempts to explain things about life, death, the real nature of the universe, and the function of the human in relation to it all, but as Awareness has stated, most religions use mind control and polarized concepts to subdue the person's ability to make up his or her mind, or even see things clearly.

"It seems to me that organized religions throughout the world are all guilty or distorting idea and keeping the multitudes locked in separatism and racial prejudism. It is obvious that what we need is the ability to see beyond the confines of our thinking patterns which have been influenced so heavily by religion, --but how?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that the mind can only think one thought at a time, or, if it merges two thoughts, it can only think those thoughts in a kind of single focus. This Awareness indicates that if one finds a religion interfering with clean or clear thinking, then they simply have to either set aside the religion in order to continue thinking without the influence of the religion, even if it is only temporary, or they have to look at the religion, study it deep enough, long enough, strong enough, and question everything they can about it until it is so well-known and so well understood that they have no need to continue holding onto the religion while studying other interests.

This Awareness indicates in other words, the question asking: How can one hold onto religious belief and at the same time get beyond religious belief? is much like Ouspensky's question: "How can one create a royal flush while holding a full house?" You cannot do both at the same time; one has to be put down and the other picked up.

Where Did Jesus Go After the Crucifixion?

(More on the Holy Chalice & the Magdalene's Baby)

QUESTION:

A question from Orrin R., Little Rock, Arkansas. "In past newsletters, Awareness has indicated that Jesus, after leaving the tomb, departed for India, where he was a master teacher, and lived to an old age. The book The Jesus Mystery by Bach stated he was known as Saint Issa, and was buried in Sprinagas, Kashmir. The book The Talmud of Jmmanuel, among others, seems to confirm this experience of Jesus.

"Now, in your issue 93-11, Awareness states that his departure from the tomb took a northeasterly direction into France and England. I am sure that I speak for many members who are very confused, for I do recall that in France and England, there are traditions of Mary Magdalene and Joseph of Aramathea, but not of Jesus having been in these respective countries.

"Please ask Awareness about this seeming contradiction between Its messages in 93-11 and that of 84-6 page 13, as to the direction that the entity known as Jesus took after leaving the tomb, and where he physically died. Thank you."

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that there are seen energies moving in both directions. This Awareness indicates that the one energy that moves to the northeast toward England is seen as a movement of the Holy Family, including Mary Magdalene, who was seen as carrying a child, which is referred to as part of the Holy Family, and wherein Mary Magdalene later became symbolic of that which is called the Holy Chalice, Sacred Chalice, in that she carried the bloodline of the entity in this Holy Family in that direction.

In fact, all of the female members of the Holy Family thereafter were referred to as the Sacred Chalice or Holy Chalice. This Awareness indicates that this as a secret activity in which the Holy Family was sheltered, hidden and protected in its movement toward England and more to think of it as a symbol for the resurrection of the soul, and of the promise of eternal life. This Awareness indicates that you will also note that it is a reflection of the Egyptian ankh. This Awareness suggests also that the sign of Venus in astrological symbolism is much the same as the Egyptian ankh and that this is a symbol, that Venus symbolizes youth or eternal youth. This Awareness indicates that it also symbolizes love.

The Cross a Symbolic Counterpart of the Egyptian Ankh

This Awareness indicates that the cross in this sense was actually taken as a symbolic counterpart from the Egyptian ankh and is used as a symbol in Christianity with much the same meaning. This Awareness indicates that there is still another meaning in the symbolism; that of the two crossing bars, one vertical and the other horizontal, the vertical bar as that which symbolizes the heaven and earth, or that which is down as material and up as spirit, and the vertical bar represents the placement of humanity in between the material and spiritual realm.

The significance of the Horizontal Bar in the Cross

This Awareness indicates that in the older philosophies and religions, the horizontal bar was generally placed equidistant between the top and bottom of the vertical bar; this representing man in between heaven and earth or spirit and matter, and that horizontal bar represented the earth and the placement of humankind. This Awareness indicates in the Christian version, and also the Egyptian ankh, it was moved upward, approximately two thirds of the way toward the top. This Awareness indicates that this movement upward was to plant humankind in the higher half, above the center, so that mankind was more toward the spiritual qualities of that bar than toward the material qualities.

The Christian Cross In Relation to the Cabala

This Awareness indicates that if you were to place the cross with four arms over the image of the Cabala, the Christian cross would come in contact at center point wherein the bars cross, at approximately the same place as that which is called Beauty, or Tipareth. This Awareness indicates that this is symbolic of that place in consciousness that lies between the two worlds, the physical and the spiritual, beyond which no one can see. This Awareness indicates that Tipareth is representative of the sun as compared to other planets, and the sun being the mediator between the higher worlds, those beyond our senses, while the other Sephirah lie in levels that are representative of those realms that are within the perception or contact of the senses.

This Awareness indicates that essentially, the movement of the cross-bar upward on the staff symbolizes the evolution of humanity into higher consciousness; this being intended as a symbol of resurrection into higher states of being. This Awareness indicates that this symbolizes evolution of mankind. In another sense, it symbolizes the evolution of the ego into higher existence than mere material and earthly conditions.

The Meaning of the Upside-down Cross

This Awareness indicates that the upside-down cross as that which symbolizes movement into material interests. This Awareness indicates thus the action of Peter being crucified upside-down symbolizes the grounding of the church into material conditions, for it was upon Peter, the rock, that the church was built.

The Meaning of the Cross With the Double Arms

This Awareness indicates that the cross with double arms, such as a Christian cross with a cross lower and in the center has been considered as a less evolved cross or satanic cross. This Awareness indicates that essentially its meaning is that of a double cross. The double cross symbolizes Christianity being misused and being brought back down and into material plane, for use in material purposes, for material gain, as in the religions that have more of a material concern than actual spiritual purpose.

"YOU DOUBLE-CROSSED ME!"

(Gambling and Materiality of the Churches Today)

FOLLOW-UP COMMENT:

That's probably how that slang expression, "You double-crossed me," originated.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This is in the affirmative. It means misrepresenting, using that which appears to be right and proper and spiritual in a manner that deceives and subverts the true Christian spirit. This Awareness indicates that in actuality, most churches today, if being honest, would need to use the cross with double arms, for in the majority of these churches, the materiality of the religion is far more meaningful to them than the spirit of the teachings and were it not for the material benefits, the churches would simply fold up and get into other businesses. Some in fact have already embraced gambling through bingo and other types of business. Others have embraced show-business through television and other forms of entertainment, because these are more lucrative than the mere message of the teaching.

This Awareness indicates that this does not mean churches should avoid having entertainment in order to make the message more enticing and palatable, but there are, in fact, many churches who are more into the entertainment and show business or the gambling and the message is only a pretense and trapping so that it can be referred to as a church to draw in those who seek spiritual guidance. This Awareness indicates that there are some churches who will tailor the messages to please the audience, to give them what they want to hear; that they themselves do not really care which message they give, they are simply concerned that the audience is pleased and continues to give donations and pay for the show so that it can keep running, year after year, and providing for the bills and expenses of the staff and crew and overhead expenses and other projects that it elects to fund.

Religion is a Big Business Today

This Awareness indicates for many, religion is a big business and were it not profitable, entities would leave in droves, and for many who invest in religious business, they are seeking more the reward of social acceptance among their peers, and comfort among their peers and comfort to their troubled souls, and freedom from guilt or misdeeds done, and are willing to pay the piper to be assured that they have been accepted in spite of their misdeeds. This Awareness indicates that were you to set up a group of psychologists with celebrities and offer to give these same services in which psychologists assured the entities that what they have done is alright, is totally forgivable, and that others have done similar things, equally or worse, and they have been forgiven, and that it is not something that needs to be energized in the form of guilt, and wherein celebrities would accept the entity, informing them that "You are a fine person, we all love you very much," these entities would respond with the same kind of fervor and donations or payments, and you would have a church of a similar nature or a business of a similar nature. It would, in fact, bring in enormous amounts of money because it would serve a similar purpose, of relieving entities of feelings of guilt.

This Awareness indicates that it is surprising that no one has done this yet; that there could be an enormous business using well-known celebrities whose friendship an entity would appreciate and who would be willing to give large sums of money to, along with psychologists who appeared to know what they were talking about, who appeared to be authorities in assuring the entity that their guilt was merely illusion and had been forgiven and that they were perfectly alright. This Awareness indicates that this is a service that could be lucrative for entities; that at present time, the organized religions play this same role.

This Awareness indicates that there can be benefits from this. This Awareness suggests, however, that in the true sense, the higher sense of spiritual life, these things do not require churches or ministers or celebrities or psychologists. It is a personal matter in which some can go deeply into one's psyche and deal with the guilt between oneself and the Higher Christ Light that always accompanies an entity but is often ignored by entities. This Awareness indicates that which is the Higher Self or Christ Light as part of every entity and may be contacted by an entity simply by recognizing its presence in the life of the entity.

This Awareness suggests that the next question be asked.

KARL MARX ON RELIGION

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION:

I was going to comment that Karl Marx's observation that religion is the opiate of the people is essentially correct, is it not?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this is a crude way of expressing and observation that the religion is indeed a comfort to entities, and in this sense, the entity was correct. Religion does however carry the message that was clearly understood by the entity Jesus and others of his day; the message having come from secret schools.

The Difference Between the Church and Jesus' Message

The difference, however, between the message of the entity Jesus and others of the secret school and that of the churches is that the churches only understood the surface level of the message and carried this to entities in a way that was simplistic, yet comforting, whereas the entity Jesus and others in the secret teachings knew that there was a deeper message involved in these verses and statements later placed in the Bible; that these secret teachings were a spiritual psychology. They were a psychology that included the Superconscious or Christ Consciousness. They were not limited to conscious and subconscious alone.

It was a psychology that included the trinity of individuals: the Christ Consciousness, the conscious and subconscious: the Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

This Awareness indicates that those in the secret school understood this trinity as that which was the completion or fulfillment of human consciousness; that without these three an entity was only partially complete, and the recognition of that Christ Light or that Superconscious, or what may be termed the Higher Self, or the God Self; without that part being integrated, an entity would be seen as having a part of self missing. It would be considered as a sin, or sine. This Awareness indicates that this as a connection with trigonometry, wherein the movement off the circle as related to that which is called the sine.

This Awareness indicates in the philosophical or religious or spiritual context, it is called the sin, when one moves off the path. This Awareness indicates in this sense, the secret teachings saw the importance of these three aspects of humanity: the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, or the High Self, Middle Self and Low Self, or that which may be termed the Superconscious, Conscious, and Subconscious. This Awareness indicates that in the linking of, and the process of these three working together, an entity would not only be happier and healthier, he would also have supernatural powers.

How the Churches Keep Mankind Earthbound

This Awareness indicates that is the general condition of the esoteric concepts intended by the teachings of Jesus and others of his day, and the churches altered this to entice the masses into worshipping Jesus the man, rather than the message, and in so doing, took attention from the message and kept entities from seeking to become perfect, even as the Father in Heaven is perfect; enticed entities to place Jesus on the cross, in a position unreachable, whereby they saw the Christ as only in Jesus and not in themselves. This Awareness indicates that in doing so, it helps to keep entities earthbound and unable to escape from their own conscious and subconscious attachments to the earth. This is a way in which the powers of Kal, or that Lord of the Earth, which is symbolic of Satan in Christian terms, to keep entities from evolving into higher realms.

Even In Heaven Entities Are Still Earthbound

This Awareness indicates that Kal's purpose is to keep entities earthbound, or if you wish to use the Christian terminology, the devil's purpose is to keep entities locked in matter, chained in matter. This Awareness indicates that many entities think that simply by going to heaven they are free of matter, but heaven is only on the 4th realm, and entities can go there and still return to earth for they must move beyond heaven to be totally free of the influences of Kal, or that which entities would refer to as the devil.

This Awareness indicates that therefore, in order to proceed beyond that which is the 4th level of heaven, entities must be in contact with the Christ Light, or with someone who is capable of taking them beyond that 4th level. This Awareness indicates that the movement beyond the 4th level requires ridding yourself of karmic obligations that would attach an entity to earth levels and ridding oneself of attachments that hold the entity through desire of being attached. Their uppermost attachment, their highest priority must be that of attaching to the Light, the Christ Light, or in other language it is called "The Word," or "The Vibration" or the sound current; it is essentially all the same thing. It is the frequency that lies beyond earth frequencies.

The Extensions of the Body of God

This Awareness calls this the resonating electromagnetic energy. It is a pure White Light energy and it resonates and it permeates the universe, and when entities attach to this, they find themselves moving quickly into a unified vibration of Oneness with the Creator. This Awareness indicates that this being the highest frequency or vibration; entities attuning to this are catapulted to these higher frequencies and beings who vibrate to that same frequency. This Awareness indicates that it is this frequency that entities refer to, knowingly or unknowingly, as God, or as the Creator.

This Awareness indicates that most entities do not understand nor could they define what they mean when they use the word God, but in fact, that is what the word stands for. It is that Universal Mind, the mind or frequency, the consciousness of the universe as resonating electromagnetic White Light energy, and it may be termed 'the living waters,' it may be termed 'The Word,' it may be termed the 'Sound Current,' or the 'White Light,' but essentially it is the extension of the body of God, even though it is not a physical form, it is extension of the consciousness of God, the consciousness that permeates not only the universe that is visible to you, but the entire electromagnetic spectrum that lies beyond your perception or understanding.

Errors When an Entity Says: "I am God!"

This Awareness indicates that when entities attune to this, indeed then they can say: "I am one with God" or they can say: "I am God", but in the process of putting this into words, there is created an error, for in so doing, there is no individuality. When you attune to this energy there is no longer an "I" to speak about it, there is only essence. It is only when you leave that energy and move back into self that you can say "I am God," and in so speaking you are in error because you are no longer the Universal Energy, having stepped back into individuality. There is no self in being God, and when self does come into existence, it cannot claim to be God.

This Awareness indicates therefore, it is in error when entities teach that you are God, when speaking of the individual. This Awareness has given, however, that you are all gods, and must in time speak to each other as though you are addressing gods. This is in reference to your potential; that in essence, there is within each and every one of you, the God Force, the God Being, but it is not available when you think of yourself as a separate entity from God. You must see yourself only as unified with God, as a part of God, and in so seeing this, in such instance, then you are God's parts.

This Awareness indicates it is not an important issue as to whether you call yourself God or don't call yourself a God; it is only important that you understand the concept so you do not misinterpret what it means. There are problems when an entity sees himself as a conscious person claiming to be God, while seeing his neighbor as but a man. This Awareness indicates that this is a problem because it affects one's ego and creates a greater separation from reality and truth, and also from one's neighbor. If one sees the neighbor and all others, and all else, Including the trees, the air, the earth, the sky, and all things as being God, and in that context one says: "I am God," then it is correct, but one cannot separate oneself and claim also to be God, for the self, in separation is not the whole.

This Awareness indicates it would be like a cell in your big toe screaming out; "I am George!" when in fact, the cell is really only part of George, and all other cells have equal right to make that same statement. This Awareness indicates that if the cell claiming to be George acknowledges that all others are equally George, then there is no problem, especially if all other cells understand what the screaming cell is trying to say, but if the cell attempts to claim itself as George, and the others say: "Hey, wait a minute! George is that big guy that we're part of, and you're trying to say you're George? You're not even big" This Awareness indicates that there is a confusion in communication and meaning which needs to be cleared up; that is the purpose of this particular message, to help entities to understand this new phenomena of others claiming to be gods, as part of a New Age expression.

Ramtha and JZ Knight Promote The Expression

This Awareness indicates that this appears to have been enhanced greatly through the works of Ramtha and the channel J.Z. Knight and it has created considerable debate or confusion or conflict among entities who hear these terms bandied about in which entities say: "I am God!" Entities do not fully understand what is trying to be communicated, and many entities communicating do not fully understand what they are saying. They simply parrot phrases that they read or hear which sound interesting to them, and perhaps impress others on their block.

This Awareness indicates it is like being the first kid on your block who is God. It makes one quite popular, or at least, that is the intent of the claim. This Awareness indicates, however, when entities truly understand what is meant by the statement: "I am God", it becomes a mere meaningless claim, for all entities are God, all creation is God, so what is there to brag about? There can be the recognition, but if entities are going to say: "I am God", they should explain so that others don't misunderstand and think they are trying to claim some special place or status.

This Awareness indicates in many instances that is exactly what they are trying to do. They are trying to claim a special status. If they also recognize all other entities as God, then what's the point in saying so? What's the point in saying, "I am God"? This Awareness indicates it would be more polite to inform others that they are God. This Awareness suggests the next question be asked.

FOLLOW-UP STATEMENT:

I was going to mention that I believe the term Ramtha usually uses is "becoming masters".

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this is in the affirmative, and yet there is also that repeated phrase that goes around with these entities or entities who read this information in which they claim themselves to be gods.

Shirley MacLaine Also Promotes the Statement

This Awareness indicates that much of this has come through Shirley MacLaine's interpretation of this information of Ramtha, but it does in fact exist in the literature and is a common statement among many who read the material from Ramtha and from Shirley MacLaine. It is an area that needs to be understood so that statements are not misunderstood and condemned as some form of insanity or blasphemy. There are many who would see this as blasphemy. There are others who see this as insanity. There are still others who see this as a way of feeling important, and there are still others who simply do not understand why people would say they are God, but there must be something that they mean.

This Awareness wishes to assist entities in understanding the logic behind this statement and the full intent and interpretation that is meant by such statements.

Is The 4th Plane Also the "Summer Land"?

(More on Sach Kahn the Land of a Thousand Rainbows)

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION:

One question, in reference to when Awareness refers to the 4th realm, or 4th plane as heaven. This isn't the same plane, the same place that spiritualist literature refers to as the Summer Land, is it?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this may be the same intention; that there are different terminologies by different associations or groups which parallel or serve as kind of metaphors of other philosophies and groups; that it appears the spiritualists' Summer Land is a substitute for that concept of heaven. This Awareness indicates the concept of Sach Kahn, however, is completely unique in that it refers to the existence or essence that lies beyond the vibrations that make up the stepped-down universe. It is at the highest frequency. This Awareness indicates that It has referred to this as the Land of Essence, the Land of a Thousand Rainbows. Out of this White Light of Sach Kahn comes all of the stepped-down vibrations or that which may be termed the rainbows, the frequencies that are emanating out of the White Light.

The Bliss That Emanates From the Blue Planet or "Heaven"

This Awareness indicates that the realm of heaven as that which is on frequencies below this Land of a Thousand Rainbows, in which there is the formation of the appearance of Light and material realms. There is that which may be classified or called highways paved with gold because this is of a higher frequency. This Awareness indicates It has also referred to this level as the Blue Planet. The Blue Planet is simply on that same frequency or vibration as heaven. It is not the ultimate experience, nor is it below the heavenly experience; that the status in heaven or in that which is the Blue Planet, these frequencies of that particular octave as that which may be described as a Land in which bliss emanates. Wherein your sunlight emanates on this plane and gives vitality and good feelings and produces many things of great value to you, serving as a kind of life force energizer; in that fourth plane there is that which is called Bliss. It is like the sun or that frequency, and the bliss emanates from the beings who are there, and in approaching these beings, you begin to feel bliss just coming within their proximity, and that bliss intensifies your life force and energy, and entities coming together recharge the bliss in each other, and that bliss from entities causes trees and plants to emanate fruit and nectar, things that are most delicious to the senses.

A Description of What Sach Khan is About

This Awareness indicates, however, this is still not the highest realm. The highest realm is that which has been called Sach Khan. It is beyond form. It is pure light, and the bliss is that which one becomes in the highest sense possible, it is life knowledge, awareness, wisdom, all-knowingness and absolute total experience of everything universal in a most blissful state and ecstasy that is unimaginable; that when entities enter into this Sach Khan, they are indeed God, they are the Creator, there is no Individuality in that state other than the beingness of the Creator Itself.

This Awareness indicates it is from here that the soul was created, the soul being sparks that emanate out from that being, and in their emanation they may descend through different octaves on their journey to various planes; that in the process of the soul moving back, they become more and more the sparks that they were upon leaving, until they enter into the heart and become One with it, the heart of the Creator, the Universal Creator.

You Can claim Yourself a Lesser God and Be Correct

This Awareness wishes to remark that there are of course lesser gods, and entities can claim to be a lesser god, without fabricating, but when entities think of God, they generally tend to think of either a localized solar system god, or one out there in the galaxy somewhere or one who is universal or the Ultimate Creator of all things, and entities walking around in a physical body would be hard-pressed to convince others that they were a solar system god or a galaxy god or a universal god, or the god who is creator of all things, yet many will make the statement that: "I am God", without defining or clarifying their meaning and others will simply look at them and shake their heads in wonderment. If they were to explain their true position it would be another story that could be informative, or if they were to be honest in regard to their claim as an individual to being God, they would say: "I am a lesser god. I am god of my apartment. I am god of my job. I am god of my pets, and other things that I dominate and help," and this would be accurate.

This Awareness is a stickler on definitions because entities do not seem to ask for definitions or relate to definitions. They simply look at words as though they were some kind of fruit and think that all fruit that claims to be an orange is going to be exactly the same as others titled orange. There are good oranges and there are bad oranges. Some are rotten, and some are still green. Entities need to learn to define words so that they are not being disappointed. Who wants to buy an orange without first discovering whether it is edible?

WAS ABRAHAM LINCOLN KARMICALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR HIS VIOLENT END?

(Also Kennedy, Gandhi and Martin Luther King Etc.)

QUESTION:

A question from Harish Gandhra. a member from India. He asks if Awareness would please throw some light on a couple of questions he has. Some of these I'm sure have been answered more or less before, but I'll read this in the way he puts it. "Are the great persons, eg., Abraham Lincoln, Kennedy, Martin Luther King, Mahatma Gandhi, Pao Bahular, Shastri, Indira Gandhi and so forth, personally responsible for their violent ends, due to past deeds, or is it the assassins and the planners who create this situation and therefore, their own karma?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that generally, most of the entities named, and most entities who make a concerted effort to alter the situation on this plane, to bring about a dramatic betterment for humanity, generally these entities are assassinated or stopped in some manner by forces that are part of the controls who operate from their organized collective relationships with others to maintain power throughout various nations on this earth in order that they, as a group, might continue holding that power and they destroy any force, individual or group, or their effectiveness, in order to prevent them from threatening the power which they hold.

The Conspiracy From Secret Organizations

This Awareness indicates that in other words, there is a conspiracy that reaches into all governments in which entities from secret organizations and groups influence the affairs to prevent any individual from rising into great positions of influences, or holding such positions in such a manner that would hinder their own controls and powers.

This Awareness indicates that they may allow entities to rise to positions of significance and power so long as they are cooperative with their purposes, but if these entities become a threat to them, they will not tolerate their continuing to hold power. This Awareness indicates that there have, of course, been assassinations by some who were not part of that conspiracy, but approximately 95% of the leaders of nations and those of high influence who have been assassinated, were in fact assassinated by entities working under direct orders or influence from those conspirators from secret organizations whose interest was to hold or gain power or prevent entities from threatening the power they already have.

This Awareness indicates that in most cases the entities who were assassinated were in some way breaking the code, or breaking the rules of that group so that they were seen as a threat to the group's power. This Awareness indicates that this had little to do with karma brought into the life by these assassinated entities. It was more the result of their intentions to counter the forces that held control. This Awareness indicates that it is approaching a time when these powers will begin to lose their control and things will become reversed so that in time, history will be rewritten, carrying the stories and information related to those secret organizations and conspirators.

Entities Will Soon Be Able to Read the Akashic Record

This Awareness indicates that it is not so far in the future that entities will know these things, even without being told, because consciousness will expand to the point where entities have the ability to see into past and future and into the secrets that have been withheld, wherein entitles are able to read the Akashic records, the biosphere computer that holds the memory of all things that have happened on this earth, which memory is stored in that which is called the Akashic records. This Awareness indicates that in the end, the truth will prevail and the truth will come out. It is what was meant by the opening of the Book of Life, wherein entities' records would be revealed. These would be revealed to all of entities.

This Awareness indicates of course there are many who are not really interested in reading the Akashic record and will not bother. There are others who will want to go down or go to these records and look up information and will be able to do so, just as one may research public information at your courthouse. This Awareness indicates, however, the reading of Akashic records in the future will be done through inner travel, going inward, rather than going outward. This Awareness sees this as something which will begin to happen more and more in the next century, as frequencies and vibrations on this earth plane begin to enhance consciousness expansion, so that entities become higher in vibration and their perception becomes more sensitive to reading those vibrations.

COULD LINCOLN HAVE AVOIDED HIS FATE OR WAS IT PREARRANGED?

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION:

I had an additional question about these entities who are assassinated. I'd like to know If they could have avoided their fate, or was this a prearranged drama of the cosmos, in order to emphasize the message they came to bring to this plane?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this appears to have been such as to have been most difficult to avoid; that the very position they were put in, the circumstances surrounding their condition and the action which they took in regard to the conditions of their society would have made it almost impossible for them to escape that end, for the only way they could have avoided the end would have been to not take any action that would have threatened the conspirators, but to have acted only as obedient servants to them. It is not so much that someone elsewhere arranged for their assassination, it was that the circumstances on the earth plane at this time would not allow them to be an obstacle to the powers which control the masses through their secret societies.

Did They Sense Death Was Imminent?

(Franklin Roosevelt and John Kennedy Warned America)

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION (VIKKI):

These entities must have known or sensed somewhere along the line that what they were going to do, or what they were doing was going to come to a life-threatening position.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates they generally do know this, there are times when they attempt to alert the masses. This Awareness indicates that although Roosevelt was used and participated in helping these forces, two weeks before his death he spoke of the most dangerous conspiracy and lamented that he wished he had understood what he had done in having usurped the people's economic powers by cooperating with those who misused the money system. This Awareness indicates the wording as not being the same, but the entity did speak of wishing to inform the people that he had wrongly cooperated with the money mongers. The entity John Kennedy also lamented ten days before his death that he had been used as a President against the benefits of the American people, and that before he left office he wanted to inform and warn the American people of this action that had misused the Presidency.

This Awareness indicates that these were utterances that almost certainly assured their death; that had they simply gone ahead at the moment and told all they had to say before large numbers of people, not through television or radio where they could be cut off, but before large audiences, it would have been too late for their death to have served any purpose, for the word would have been out, but their statements simply alerted the conspirators, the money-changers, the money-mongers, that they were about to let the cat out of the bag, and so they had to be silenced, before they could do so.

The Emergence of the New Being...

(The Information Explosion and What it Means)

CLOSING MESSAGE:

This Awareness indicates that there are energies during this part of this century that are making for greater sensitivity among the masses, and these energies are greatly speeding up the ability of the mind to handle and process information more quickly and with greater refinement; that the sensitivity of entities in this day and age is such that the stimulation of mind by the many different environmental stimuli is increasing intelligence and sensitivity and the ability of entities to discern more clearly.

This Awareness indicates it has already reached a point wherein it is acknowledged that children in kindergarten are now equal in terms of their learning ability to those who were in the first grade, 30 years ago; that this increase in intelligence of these young children will give them a head-start over their predecessors in learning, in thinking, in assimilating information and as it is happening to young children, it is also happening to adults. People are learning much faster than they learned 20, 40 or 60 years ago. There is much more available from which entities can learn. There are books by the thousands, there are television programs by the thousands, whereby entities can learn and have so much input into their brains, into their psyche, into their memory; there are so many more teachers within school and out of school. There are seminars, there are experts in every field speaking to entities, making their knowledge available. It is a world of information explosion.

It is a world of information explosion wherein entities can, without leaving their home, journey to foreign lands and cultures, wherein entities can learn foreign languages without going to school, through tapes, through books, through videos, wherein entities can learn of foreign philosophies and religions and concepts and studies of higher mathematics and economic systems without ever going to school, simply by walking to the library or purchasing a book. Entities have opportunities that never existed before on this plane, and the learning is progressing and the opportunities are increasing and the information is ever exploding and the sensitivity and especially the ability of entities to have the insight from experts and counselors who study the nature of the mind, who study the nature of concepts involved in thinking and in relating and in patterns of behavior so that entities can learn how to get beyond those patterns of the mind that prevent clear or harmonious relationships; as these things progress, entities' consciousness will become more and more sensitive so that telepathy, clairvoyance, sentient and tactile information will be easily absorbed by entities wherein their learning becomes even greater, and becomes a way of experiencing. They will, by body language or by attunement to one's vibration, understand what is happening to the entity, whether the entity is frightened or joyful, without even speaking to the entity. They will be able to know, regardless of what the entity tells them, if something is troubling to the entity.

The Age of the New Being is Beginning

This kind of new sensitivity that is emerging is that which is going to create a quantum leap in mentality levels, intelligence levels, sensitivity levels, and understanding in the mass consciousness of entities on this plane. You are living, on the threshold of a new dispensation, of a new civilization, of a new creation. It is the beginning of the Age of the New Being that will emerge out of the chaos which will begin in the New Age that presents for entities a world of peace and harmony and cooperation. This Awareness indicates that this is a time which should be noted carefully by those who participate in this transition. It is a great historical time, a time which in the future will be seen as more important than the industrial transition; it will be seen as more important than the industrial transition; it will be seen as a time of psychological transition, wherein entities made a quantum leap, as great as that from the Neanderthal to the Crow-magnum.

This Awareness indicates the New Being is emerging.

This Awareness suggests the Interpreter be brought from trance.

Why was so Much Classical Music Produced During that Particular Period?

QUESTION:

JD in New York, asks: "Why was so much fine classical music produced during that period with nothing of that caliber since? Was it perhaps channeled from Celestria and if so, why at that time?" (which would be about the 18th--19th Century, I believe.)

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this had much to do with the time people had for this kind of technology. It was a time in which entities' mentalities had little more to do than to explore the more classical aspects of words and music. It was a time in which art was examined with a great focus and concern, analysis and reward for achievement in those fields.

The artists were often paid good money for their work. As time passed and the industrial age began, mind was rewarded for its engineering or its mechanical ingenuity rather than artistic cleverness, and the emphasis shifted from the rewards to rewards for mechanics and such. In the present time, the mind is rewarded for its electronic probing for its artistic present and expertise, more than for other reasons.

This Awareness indicates that when there is a reward for certain forms of research, the research brings forth great discovery. In those earlier days when the classical music was developed, the understanding of musical notes and tones, the relationship between the notes, the harmonies et cetera, were all studied very much like a scientific researcher might study chemistry or electronics today, and these principles were understood and taught by the master teachers in the universities and so forth.

In the Future Today's Movies will be Seen as Masterpieces

This still occurs in some schools even today. The same methods are still available for teaching of music, of art, of dramatic presentations, but the emphasis for most people has shifted from art training to electronics, engineering, chemistry and other forms of greater reward. This Awareness indicates there will be a time in the future when the movies of today will stand out as masterpieces, and people will wonder how they could ever think up such ideas and plots for such movies, and they will marvel that they have been so effective in creating these various plots and movies.

This Awareness indicates that by that time, the whole entertainment field will be different. There will be the more electronically created hologram movies and the plots will be more simplified and less valuable, because the electronic entertainment aspect will have taken over so that plot is not necessary. The special effects will be the major draw for a particular entertainment field. For example, you may have the hologram doing certain special effects before your eyes, and the plot will be of little value, thus when entities look back on the plots for today's movies, they will marvel at the complexity of the story.

Things Changed with the Arrival of Rock and Roll

This Awareness indicates they will wonder how the masters ever created such a story because they will have lost the ability to plot and to tell stories in the same way. This Awareness indicates with the advent of rock and roll, many of the musicians ceased to learn to read music and even more ceased to learn the relationship between notes and chords and the various pulls, emotional effects of a tone against another.

The tones of the scale, pulling or rising easily or creating a great gap to affect the emotions, was no longer part of writing music. It was more of a focus now on the instrument being able to create a rhythm or a particular refrain that pleased the ear, could be repeated or could be used in conjunction with some other tones and patterns, and this formed a different kind of music composition that was common in earlier writings. Something was gained and something was lost.

This Awareness indicates the old teaching, the old knowledge for music is still available but entities do not have much of a market, since the new music has upstaged it.

What About the "Genius" Factor?

(A Rap About Pioneers in the Arts and those that Follow)

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION)

What about this phenomenon of genius? Historians now claim that in those days that Handel, Mozart, Beethoven, Verdi, Wagner, and so on, these monumental writers of music were geniuses and if you look around today, the genius doesn't seem evident. At least to me. Maybe in ten years or twenty years they'll come out and say Lloyd Weber was a genius, for example. However, I think he's a genius at making money and ripping off classical composers like Puccini.

But what about this aspect of all these geniuses popping up at a particular time in musical history?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that the geniuses of that day are very much similar to the geniuses in the computer field of today. It was a new field, a new area, and the interest of young people in music during that time was not unlike the interest of young people in the computers of today. It was a new field, a new area for the mind to probe, and with a little help from the technicians in the field, such as the computer technicians helping the child to learn at an early age how to deal with computers, the child became a prodigy quite young.

In those days, the music teachers, the technicians of music were able to help the child at a young age to learn the basics and at such a young age, a mind that is completely able and ready and still in its learning ability to probe into that kind of new technological system, and you must acknowledge that music is a system, and once the patterns and thought forms of a musical system are really understood, it opens the door for much creativity.

Children are extremely creative when given something to play with, and therefore, the genius evolved out of the system that was being taught. The system being taught had to do with the mechanics of music and the music had its mechanics. People today do not learn music in the same way it was taught in those days. Today they learn it by ear more than by note, more than by patterns, and therefore, they play according to chords and runs and patterns that relate to certain sounds which have been promoted by earlier musicians and they take off on one musician's style and change it slightly to get a new sound and they are more concerned about getting a different sound using something previously as a bass, and altering it for a new sound.

This Awareness indicates that in these earlier times it was much like the early geniuses in the computers; they learned how the computer worked, its principles and how it functioned and from this learning, they then built on the principles of music and created programs, but new programmers will take the work of earlier programs and encapsulate certain patterns and activities that a program does and encapsulating that particular activity, rather than rewriting the program to do it, they simply take what has already been created and place it somewhere in their own program, to have it repeat its effect.

How a Computer Programmer Creates

This Awareness indicates that by taking these encapsulated activities of a computer, they can short-cut to create new programs made from many different encap-sulated activities without having to rewrite all of the details of each one. Thus, you have one that erases a screen and brings up a particular specific of that screen, and you have that entire action encapsulated into one particular set of commands, and without having to rewrite all those commands, you simply copy them for that function.

Then, perhaps you have the next encapsulated grouping of commands to go into that specific and bring it out into an enlargement on the screen and so forth, so that you are not really understanding so much how the computer works and programming it from that understanding, rather, you are taking things that have already been invented, things that have already been used and found effective and using those modules to create new programs, so your modules are being lifted from one place and presented into another program so that you do not have to write the entire program over from scratch.

This Awareness indicates this is much what occurs in modern music. You hear a certain set of notes, a certain pattern, certain rhythms and you encapsulate that module of information, perhaps changing a note here and there in order to make sure it does not infringe upon some copyrighted material and you put this into your script. You may not even write down the script.

Perhaps you do not know how to write music, but you put it in your song that you play, and as a group, adding these little runs, little musical patterns, you begin to get a sound that you like, and you learn how to repeat these sounds or to alternate or augment the sounds so that before long you have an entire tune and words which give you a unique song and you play this for your customers, and you have maybe no understanding at all about writing music, or what relationship one note has to another in terms of why it sounds that way, whereas the masters of old would know and could tell you why this note, played next to that note, causes this particular emotional feeling.

Some notes lead a person to feel a sense of rest, while other notes lead a person to feeling a strain, as if they were reaching for something. This Awareness indicates that the masters knew the relationship between notes and how they stimulated certain emotions in the process of going from one to the other.

Things Movie Directors Must Cope With

This Awareness indicates it is similar in movie directing. The early directors had to logically understand why and when to use shadows, where the shadows should come from, whether the lighting should be from below or above, whether the lighting should be bright or dim, and how long one should walk down a hallway before coming to something that interrupted the movement of the entity in order to build proper suspense. The entities directing those early shows had to understand this logically so that they could do it and get the effect they wanted.

Entities who come later look back at the masters and say: "Do it like that person did it in that show!" and they introduce a scene in which an entity walks down a corridor and suddenly a door opens and a monster's face is there. They do not know why it worked, but it worked before, so it will work again.

This Awareness indicates in other words, the pioneers had to spend more time understanding the art they created than those who followed and had the course and patterns laid out for them by previous pioneers.

THE STEM-CELL RESEARCH CONTROVERSY

QUESTION:

There's a controversy going on right now in this country concerning what they call stem-cell research, which has to do with fertilized embryo's. On the one hand there's those whose anti-abortion beliefs are so strong that they cannot abide the notion of killing human embryo's to harvest their stem-cells. And on the other hand there's those who believe the prospect of medical breakthroughs through stem-cell research justifies Federal support, and supporters say stem-cell work could produce cures for diseases such as Alzheimer's, and last night on the TV they had Christopher Reeve stumping for stem-cell research. Evidently he believes that this could solve the problems of paraplegics.

The Pope is definitely against it, and chewed the President out the other day when he met with him. What are Awareness' insights on this subject?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that this particular mass event of polarized opinions, emotions and feelings pertains to the highest question of whether or not there is indeed a Higher Power or God directing the destiny of the species, directing the individual lives to the degree that many religious traditions would like to claim.

This Awareness suggests that as a manifestation of the broadening consciousness and of the gradual awakening of the species to the inner creative potentials of the human experience, to awakening with enlightenment to the realization that all omnipotence and omniscience has been delegated to the individuals, should they specifically develop their breadth of consciousness to receive both the power and the information available within this Awareness.

This Awareness suggests that many such vacillations between one opinion and another, between the left and the right, of political persuasions, all hinge upon the singular belief, this eroding belief that an almighty dictator is orchestrating all of life's experience and that human beings are little more than puppets upon strings with volition only a myth and a fantasy.

This Awareness suggests however, that as the consciousness of the species evolves and as more and more energy/information is perceptually available, particularly with the understandings of the behavioral guidance system within emotion, that the sensory band width will continue to expand and individuals will not only recognize their own empowerment to create the lives that they choose, but to recognize the role of the individual within the species, within the destiny of the entire planet as a cell in a larger organization.

This Awareness suggests that the concept of God, often abused and misused traditionally in various religions, relates to the organized gestalt of consciousness above and beyond that of the individual entity, of the species, consciousness, and of energy essences and personality structures not focused in physical reality.

This Awareness suggests that when humanity began experimenting and discovering technological methods with which to alter the chemistry and the biological propensities of the form, this was a physical manifestation of the empowerment that exists already within the species. This Awareness suggests that as entities began to realize that they have indeed been playing God themselves for centuries, that doing so at the next level, involving the very creation of embryo's and cells and utilizing such materials for medical advancements which can advance the human experience, is simply another way of manifesting the creative freedom already afforded humanity.

Christopher Reeve Playing a Significant Role

This Awareness suggests further that the role of the entity Christopher Reeve is of particular significance regarding the experiment suggested previously through this Awareness, regarding the ability of entities to focus healing information and energy through individual projections of the mass effort, created and perpetuated by Cosmic Awareness Communications community, that indeed the consciousness of this entity at the time, was not receptive to the pure emotional propensities and energy without first filtering through the belief structures.*

This Awareness suggests that the entity was initially non-receptive to gestures and offerings and even intuitive perceptions of the manifestations of the energy generated by the community toward the healing, and yet participated in particular events unfolding in his own life which lead to the manifestation of the image of the injured wounded man arising and walking, although technologically supported and ultimately not a complete manifestation of the healing itself.

This Awareness suggests however, that those efforts continued to broaden the conscious understandings and attune the entity to the issue of the technological happenings in terms of stem-cell research. This Awareness suggests that this indeed will be the avenue that the entity will accept, given the belief structures in place, that will allow the healing energies to reap purchase.

Stem-Cell Research In Terms of Morality

This Awareness suggests that in terms of the morality: the rightness or wrongness of any human decision or any human action, that so many cultural judgments and pronouncements float about which masquerade as legitimate evaluations, that without re-attunement to the emotional system to recognize the ancient values and morality inherent within the species, that such arguments and vacillations between a position morally or politically correct versus its polar opposite, are meaningless.

This Awareness suggests that the overall rightness of stem-cell research reflects the onward march in the creative capacity of the human species to manifest their own destiny. This Awareness suggests that as more research is done within understanding the physiological mechanisms that more and more understanding of the mental, emotional and spiritual components which are now relegated to the sidelines, as if they do not exist, to the scientific mind.

This Awareness suggests that proceeding in this direction is the right thing to do in terms of the discovery of the human capacities to create and to destroy. This Awareness suggests that religious leaders who claim power due to their position as intermediaries between the lowly human being and the high and mighty omniscient and omnipotent Creator are simply manifestations of a continued belief that intermediaries are necessary.

This Awareness suggests that the job security of such entities is threatened by the changing consciousness, and such resistance is predictable, inevitable, and yet futile. If we have completion we can continue.
